Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

We cannot escape the foreboding of European war, even though France and Great Britain have sacrificed Czechoslvakia on the altar of peace. The peace offering to Hitler will bring a demand for more territory, more conquest. In the ideology of the socialized state of Germany, the Germans are superior to all other humans on this earth. It is an illusion that was fostered by Kaiser William, by Frederick the Great It dates back into the barbaric ages. It has become a national obsession which now threatens the peace of the earth. To grant the premises stated so frequently by German leaders since the Franco-Prussian war of 1871, would mean that a superior race should have superior advantages on Mother Earth, and being denied them, would give this race warrant for taking by force whatever at the moment seemed necessary.

This obsesion of a united people stands squarely in the way of any permanent peace. It threatens not only the great democracies of earth, it threatens the soviet republic and other dictatorships. The menace is the greater because of the elimination, the destruction of Christian ideals. The teaching of brotherly love, the self abnegation of loving "thy neighbor as thyself," have been displaced by the savage instinct of force and the doctrine that the earth belongs by right to those able to possess it.

The Germans were rebuked, their claim to superiority was disproved. in the World war. Two million of our own young men helped to teach them that they were not really superior to the French, the Italians, the English, the Americans, the blacks from Morroco, and the brown men from India. Individually, only recently, their white, Aryan fisticuff champion was ignominiously whipped by one of our common, ordinary blacks. Still the national obsession persists.

If the Sudeten Germans and the territory they occupy are merged with Nazi Germany, and this were enough to appease the vanity of Nazi leaders, one might concede that it were wise step to undo some of the mischief of the Versailles treaty which our late President Wilson helped to write. Viewed as a single incident this merger appeals to many Americans as an act of justice. Still we cannot knew how many of these Sudetens really desire this union. There is no free plebescite to indicate the truth, and there is a world of propaganda to hide it. But on its face it looks like a natural and racial merger of two parts of a whole.

But already in Berlin the Nazis are gossiping of the march through the Balkans to the oil fields of Rumania, the wheat fields of the Ukrane, and farther south and east over the long dreamed of route to the Persian gulf. The mountain barrier between the Sudeten territory of Czechoslovakia and Germany falls without a blow, old Bohemia, that never was a part of Germany is gobbled up, and the door left open for that march into other nations. The ecquisition of Austria, the surrender of a rich portion of Czechoslovakia, feeds the German "delusion of grandeur." which in individuals results ultimately in confinement within an insane asylum.

Surely we shall have another world war, not "to make the world safe for democracy," but to defend democracies against destruction by obsessed dictatorships. And just as surely we shall win again. Because paradoxical as it may seem, unwieldly and slow as democracies are in waging war, the democracies, Great Britain and the United States and France, are when united in a common cause able to exert far more force than the rest of the world put together. These three nations, if finally roused will, as they did over twenty years ago, unite again to crush the rise of barbarism. The power and wealth the democracies have gained in peace will again be marshalled to curb and it may be, this time, to destroy those nations that regard force as the only law. When that day comes, the United States will not long be able to stand aloof.

ROTARY HEARS PRESTON SCHOOL HEAD ON BOYS

About 70 per cent of delinquent boys sent to the Preston Industrial School come out of the institution to become useful citizens, Mr. O. H. Close, superintendent of the school, told the Rotary club yesterday at luncheon in the National Hotel. Around fifteen per cent finally reach the California penitentaries Mr. Close said.

The cost of putting a boy through an average course of 14 months in the Preston School, Close said is $625. The average cost of a criminal to the tax payers of the country is $10,000, aside from the damage they do. The Preston school which teaches a very large majority of boys between 12 and 18 to become self supporting and self respecting citizens, therefore represents a very decided saving to the tax payers.

Mr. Close prefaced his remarks with the statement that the Preston School is under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Institutions, which include fifteen establishments such as correctional schools, homes for feeble minded children and adults, schools for the blind and hospitals for the insane. He declared the hospitals for feeble minded and insane are again overcrowded, and stated incidentally that more has been done by the present state administration to relieve overcrowding, than by any other for many years past.

There are 720 boys in Preston school at the present time, The annual turnover is over 800. The school owns a large farm at Ione, Amador county, and there are 82 buildings on it devoted to various uses. Twenty eight difrerent crafts are taught. A great many boys are placed on probation and with few exceptions these turn out well. Officers of the school travel about the state supervising and advising the boys in their various jobs. Each supervising officer has about 140 now in his charge, which Mr. Close stated, was too many.

Delinquency rises much more frequently in urban than in rural communities. Nevada City has but one boy in Preston, whereas 38 per cent of all the boys sent to Preston svhool come from Los Angeles county. Boys are very apt to take their behavior cue from their elders in the community. Communities in which the law is respected and obeyed rarely send boys to Preston. A large percentage of the boys come from homes that have been broken by divorce or death. Mr. Close said that he sometimes received two sets of parents to visit boys in his school. One the mother and the step father, and the other, the step mother and father.

CHAMBER HITS SINGLE TAX AND 30 WARRANTS

At a special meeting of the Nevada City chahmber of commerce Wednesday night that body adopted a resolution opposing the "$30 Every Thursday" proposition which will be voted on at the November election.

President Fred Conner made a report on the advertising signs which have been placed on U. S. 40 for the purpose of directing traffic to Nevada City.

The chamber adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS California has given shelter to hundreds of thousands of destitute families in the last six years and the tax payers of this state have provided for them more generously than in any other state, and

WHEREAS, there will appear on the November ballot two measures which will ruin all tax payers and deprive them of their business and their property, if enacted, and

WHEREAS, unless the tax payers, home owners, and all those who have a stake in California, either in property owned, in professional clientelles, vocation or employment, now unite for mutual protection, they will be unable to pay taxes for government expenses, schools or old age pensions, now be it

RESOLVED by the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce that we will appeal individually and collectively to all voters of Nevada County to go to the polls November 8, and vote "No" on the "Thirty Warrants Every Thursday" measure, which would impose a tax of one and one third billions of dollars annually upon California tax payers, and to vote "No" on the single tax measure, which also proposes to abolish the sales tax, the effect of which would be ultimately to throw all property into state ownership, and the immediate effect of which would be to close the schools, now supported by the sales tax, and be it further

RESOLVED that we, the members of Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, pledge our best endeavors to convince the voters in this county, that both these measures are pernicious, have been tried elsewhere, and have signally failed, leaving ruin and indebtedness in their wake.

Russell Haddy and wife of Redding visited the former's mother, Mrs. A. H. Haddy in Nevada City Thursday evening. It will come as a pleasant surprise to Mr. Haddy's friends to learn that he was married on August 8 to a girl he met in Nevada. Russell has a position with a Nevada company which is developing mining property.

Will Watson, local contractor, returned Monday from a three month's stay in Manitoba, Canada where he was called on account of the serious illness of his mother. It was also a family reunion as the family had not been together in 36 years. They have been scattered from east to western Canada and Mr. Watson in California.

Bobbie Roe, son of Mrs. George Roe, celebrated his tenth birthday Saturday with a happy little party at his home in Spring street. After enjoying a big birthday cake and ice cream the group of youngsters attended the theatre.

Guy E. Smith, who with Mrs. Smith have been staying with her parents Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Syms the past six months, left about two weeks ago for White Plains, New York, to be on the staff of the Associated Contractors Company. This firm is building the acqueduct for water supply for New York City.

C. I. O. WIN IN LABOR DISPUTES AT BOCA DAM

The CIO organization whose members are employed by the George F. Condon contracting company engaged in a building a dam in the Truckee river at Boca, this week won two signal victories in controversies with the contractors there.

On Monday last a compressor man working for a sub-contractor named Holland, who is building a road around the dam site, "talked back" to the foreman and was discharged. On Tuesday about thirty men on this job went on strike, and a general strike on the entire project, involving over a hundred men was threatened. On Wednesday the contractor yielded to the CIO demands, put the compressor man back on the job and agreed to pay the thirty who had been out on strike wages for the time they were off the job. An attempt on the part of the contractor to put the man back on the payroll as a laborer was rejected by the CIO.

Another incident which almost resulted in picketing the dam project yesterday was the discharge of a truck driver who insisted on obeying the CIO steward regarding the hours he worked rather than the Condon boss. He was dismissed but after five hours of wrangling the driver was reinstated on the CIO terms with back pay for the five hours lost.

PONEMAH COUNCIL GIVES DELEGATES RECEPTION

Ponemah Council No. 6 Degree of Pocahontas met Monday evening in Odd Fellows hall. It proved to be an interesting and enjoyable meeting. It was a reception to the delegates who recently returned from the Great Council held this year in Vallejo.

Mrs. Annie Browning reported for the delegates and her report of the convention was complete and instructive. Mrs. Elizabeth Lashbaugh attended the Great Council as a delegate and was honored with the appointment of District Deputy Great Pocahontas, her term being for one year. Her first act of authority was to have George Gildersleeve appointed drill captain of the team and plans are under way for extensive drilling. Several candidates have already been secured for adoption.

Many activities are being planned for the coming months but first will be the benefit card party, the amount raised to be sent to the Orphans Board to aid in the Orphans' Christmas fund. The card party is planned for Monday evening, October 3, in Odd Fellows hall and the committee appointed is comprised of Felecia Moody, chairman, aided by Phyllis Bluxome, Nettie Gildersleeve, Elizabeth Lashbaugh, Jessie Costa, Thelma Bartlett, Lucille Cicogni.

At the conclusion of the meeting a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served in the banquet hall by Chairman Elma Hecker and her committee. Mention should be made of the profusion of beautiful flowers in every available space both in the lodge hall and on the banquet tables.

OLD CHAMPION GRAVEL

W. Anderson, who had a small dredge and dragline on the old Champion gravel deposit west of Nevada City about three years ago, has taken over the Bald Mountain property near Forest and crews are drifting. Several small veins of good value have been uncovered. The Bald Mountain was worked for years as a gravel mine and as gravel peters out the veins are being developed.

GOLD STAR GRAVEL MINE

Twelve men are employed at the Gold Star gravel mine east of the old Anthony House on Deer Creek. Everything has been installed and work will start today with drag line and trommel. Partners on the Gold Star are J. B. Beles, Bartels and J. A. King.

Jack Kelleher, superintendent of the mountain division of the Nevada Irrigation district, and son, Harry Kellher, made a four and a half mile trip to the Milton Tunnel from Bowman Lake Wednesday. It is their eleventh annual trip to the tunnel to inspect the tunnel for winter. It was found the water was at low ebb.

District Fair Will Be County Gala Event

The coming fair at Grass Valley on the 16, 17, and 18 of October promises to be, with Nevada City's cooperation, a most worthy enterprise. The board has left no stone unturned to make this first county fair a success and the board believes that it merits serious consideration on the part of all residents of the county.

The success of all of these things which are of ultimate benefit to a community require that some few interested people shall take the bit in their teeth and proceed to act. This is being done with an enthusiasm and verve which merits wide support.

The generous premiums which are offered with the small entrance fees are a source of wonderment. The list is now ready for distribution and from it exhibitors may select something which may bring substantial reward for entering.

Entertainment of the highest character of a clean and healthy sort is offered at the fair both in the auditorium while spectators are viewing the exhibits and the carnival and at the horse show. The horse show to be offered for the enjoyment of Nevada county folks will be one of the outstanding horse shows of the state. Under special arrangement with Tevis Paine who has conducted the best of the horse shows in California, a goodly number of the finest horses in the west in the harness, jumping and polo classes will be exhibited. In the draft class are some of the first stock in the west.

To stage such a show and especially on its first year, has required the effort of sincere and able people. The fair is to be a yearly one and this can only be done by public cooperation and support.

Enter your produce, live stock and home economics exhibit in accordance with the provisions of the premium list so that the board may have a representative list of viewings for the edification of those who give the fair their patronage.

The premium list is ready and the entry blanks and can be procured from the office of the board at 209 1-2 West Main street, in Grass Valley and from the Chamber of Commerce in Nevada City. Get a list now and fill out entry blanks early.

CIVIC CLUB TO HEAR TAX TALK; PUBLIC INVITED

The Nevada City Woman's Civic Club will hold a meeting Monday evening September 26 at the grammar school auditorium to which the public is invited. There will be no charge. A speaker will be presented by the club who will discuss the Sales Tax Amendment to be voted on at the November election.

If the sale tax repeal amendment should be passed in November it will at one stroke do away with the sales tax and impose such a burden upon real estate, through its single tax provision, that in the space of two or three years all real estate would be sold to the state for taxes. The speaker Monday night will describe the results which will flow from imposition of the single tax on land and the repeal of the sales tax.

The Mighty Do Fall

A young nation like a young man is inclined to concentrate upon the future rather than the past. The nation has no experience on which to base its decisions and, again like a young man, is not too anxious to receive advice from its elders.

History—a record of the experience of nations—does have some very valuable advice it can give us if we will just take it. China, for instance, tried the NRA generations ago, and it flopped. So did we.

More recent than China's experience, however, is what preceded the fall of the mighty Holy Roman Empire. Rome practically legislated its farmers out of existence. Then it started making the businessmen in various communities pay all the taxes of the communities. Then it passed laws fixing wages and prices; next it forced businessmen to stay in business or face lions in the arena. And then—Rome collapsed.

In this country, farmers are getting less for their wheat, cotton, and potatoes than they did five years ago. We have passed one "share-the-wealth" tax bill after another, increasing the burden upon the businessmen who furnish payrolls. We are fixing wages; we are about to fix prices.

It isn't pleasant to be pessimistic. Maybe we'll be smart enough to stop short of the precipice. We still have time.—Contributed.

It's Clean-Up Time

These news items catch the eye:

The WPA expects to have an all-time record number of 3,150,000 on its payrolls soon. This will exhaust by January the billion and a half that was supposed to last through March . . . Carl P. Herbert of the St. Paul Bureau of Municipal Research says that "we are creating a class of professional paupers." The Federal treasury's deficit for the first TWO months of the year was nearly half a billion dollars. . . Federal tax collections for the last fiscal year were greater than ever before, even in post-war boom days.

All of that adds up to just this: We have been priming the pump for eight years, piling up deficit after deficit. We have boosted taxes to their highest levels in history. We have taken the personal touch out of relief. And we still have around ten million unemployed or on relief work, draining away the income of those who do have work.

It looks as though it is about time for us to clean up this mess and use methods which will work because they have worked.—Contributed.

Give It A Chance

Said Elmer F. Andrews, administrator of the federal wage-hour law, in a recent radio address:

"As the United States has developed its vast resources over the past century there has been a phenomenal growth in the production of new kinds of goods and the creation of new services. This prosperity has been accompanied by increasing money wages and the highest material standard of living for working people in the world.

"There has also been a gradual reduction in the length of the working week. It is not many years since a 72-hour week was the rule in some important American industries. Today it would be hard to find such a working schedule in any great factory.

Is there any sound reason to believe that if a system which did those things had just half a chance to operate it wouldn't duplicate its performance in the future? — Contributed.

SPLIT SECOND BOOK REVIEWS

ROY GRIFFITHS DEETER

THE YEAR IS A ROUND THING. by Helene Ebeltoft Davis, published by Harper and Brothers, New York and London.

Now here is the newest of the new. So new in fact, that it will not be on sale until October 1.

I feel priviledged to be able to pre-view this charming book, written by a well known and deservedly popular resident of Nevada City.

"The Year is a Round Thing" is Mrs. Davis' first book, and judging by this work I would say she should go far.

The story concerns her childhood life in Tromso, an island in the very northern-most part of Norway. It is told with simple conviction and sincerity, and in the most charmingly simple (and incidentally, I think, the most difficult to achieve,) language.

The book is one that will delight both old and young. Full of folklore and quaint incidents that in themselves give the reader a vivid insight into the modes and manners of this far-away land, a land where for three long months the sun never shines, a land where one offers bowls of milk to the household Niss and where the appearance of the dreaded Droug foretells death and disaster.

Here little Helene, surrounded by her adoring family, her brother, and sisters, bemoans her skinny legs, frets over the mumps, curtesies to her king, and talks with the kaiser. There are dancing parties, and ski-ing parties, Christmas feasts, celebrations, and almost best of all the lovely country house where the short summer is spent.

There are discriptions of the fishing fleets that put into this little port of Tromso for supplies, and of tourists that come in the early summer. This is the tremendously moving moment when all Tromso climbs the big mountain to catch the very first glimpse of the sun after the "long dark."

It is an intimate and revealing chapter in the life of a charming person and should be a delight to any discriminating reader.

The book is cleverly illustrated by Raymond Lufkin, with cuts that stir the imagination and charm the eye.

I hope none of you will miss the pleasure that reading this book will give you.

From Aunt Sarah

Two very fine pickling recipes were brought into Aunt Sarah this week. This is the season for pickled peaches and relishes and how these relishes do enrich the winter dinners. Indian Relish with a hot steak can't be beaten and the pickle peaches served with roast add that piquant note to any dinner. The Indian relish recipe was sent in by Mrs. Brian Krough and the pickle peach by Mrs. Carl Johnson.

Indian Relish

Six cups sour apples.
Three cups green tomatoes.
Two cups onions.
Six cups green peppers, ground up.
Three cups vinegar.
One cup brown sugar.
One cup white sugar.
Two tablespoons cinnamon.
Two tablespoons white mustard seed.
Two tablespoons salt.

Run apples and vegetables through coarse grinder, measure, add vinegar and the ingredients and cook slowly for about an hour. Seal in sterelized jars while hot.

Pickle Peaches

Into a kettle place the following:
One and one half quarts vinegar.
Eight cups white sugar.
Two pounds brown sugar.

Boil five minutes, add stick cinnamon and cloves. Add as many peaches as this will hold. Boil until you can stick a fork into them. Bottle hot and seal.

CHINESE ART TREASURES FOR S. F. EXPOSITION

TREASURE ISLAND, San Francisco Bay, Sept. 21.—Imperial relics from ancient China, once the possessions of the Empress Dowager, will be shown in this country for the first time at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition. The exhibit is the private collection of Chinese Princess Der Ling, noted writer and lecturer, who once was Lady-in-Waiting in the Imperial court.

The Princess Der Ling Pavilion will be part of the $1,200,000 Chinatown village at the California Worlds Fair. Chinatown, now under construction, will be a reproduction of an ancient walled city with its dwellings, markets, shops, theatres, cafes and tea gardens.

In the Princess Der Ling Pavilion will be shown the actual throne upon which Chinese rulers sat and the authentic throne room set from the court of the Dowager Empress, surrounded by life-like wax replicas of the people who attended the Empress. They will wear actual court dresses. Other art treasures will include a richly embroidered imperial yellow bed spread given Princess Der Ling as a wedding present by the Dowager Empress and four royal scepters, inlaid with jade, one of which was used by Emperor Kwang Hsu, the "Son of Heaven."

Jewel trees of priceless jade Imperial robes, head dresses, tapestries, ebony and teak decorative pieces. Chinese ceramics, gold ornaments, an ancient Chinese bed, and a score of other priceless treasures will be shown. Princess Der Ling will personally direct the exhibit and will present a number of lectures on imperial customs, and on the historical background of objects on exhibit.

SINGLE TAX, IF ADOPTED, WOULD CLOSE SCHOOLS

"California schools were financed by the state at a cost of nearly $75,000,000 during the last year financing that will be threatened if the voters do not defeat Proposition 20 on the November ballot," Mrs. E. K. Strong of Palo Alto, a member of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, said today.

She warned all voters, particularly parents, to "beware of Proposition 20 which is disguised by its proponents in an attempt to hide the fact that it is the same old single tax."

Said Mrs. Strong:

"Our organization has made a very intensive study of Proposition No. 20. We find it to be a distinct menace to the cause of education. We sincerely believe that if it is approved, it will only be a matter of time until California schools will close.

"In other states schools have closed when the revenue to keep them open was exhausted. It can happen here.

"Under our present tax system, there has been adequate money to finance our school system during the distressing days of the depression. This financing can continue if we do not disturb the present plan.

"Our studies have shown that a single tax is wrong in principle. It will not raise the necessary funds to pay the costs of schools, of relief, of the many other functions of government that we demand."

Mrs. Strong pointed out that during the last year, the state allocated from its general fund for elementary and high schools in Nevada county, a total of $196,452.

HUNTER ARRESTED FOR HAVING NO LICENSE

Officer Earl Hiscox of the fish and game commission, arrested Joseph LuBonnie in the Heness Pass area Wednesday when he found the man did not have a license nor deer tags while hunting. LuBonnie claims he lost his license and tags. He will be brought before Justice of the Peace W. L. Mobley Friday and will be released if he can prove he lost them, and if not he will be punished according to the game laws.

TOURS HUNTERS CAMPS

Thomas Arden, Sacramento Bee reporter of this area, accompanied Officer Earl Hiscox of the fish and game commission, on a tour of the higher mountain elevations visiting several deer hunters camps and covering a wide area in their travels. They went through the Bowman district onto Meadow Lake and into Weber Lake, thence on to Jackson Meadows traveling over the Heness Pass. While many deer had been killed most of them had been shipped out to take care of the meat.

Heads of German War Machine

The War Minister Takes a Sight

Minister of War Leslie Hore-Belisha of Great Britain sights a motor being used by the Eighth Royal Fusiliers on his visit to inspect the unit's camp at Lympne, in Kent. The minister is speeding Britain's rearmament program.

They March With Spirit of Youth

Despite their advanced age these two Civil war veterans, with aid from younger arms, proudly marched in the G. A. R. parade, covering a distance of 15 blocks. Thirteen of the 15 veteran "youngsters" who participated in the parade successfully marched the entire route. Photograph shows two of the hardy ones: O. S. Pearce, 91, left, of Minneapolis, and W. C. Fisher, 89, of St. Paul.

THIS AND THAT

By ROY GRIFFITHS DEETER

THERE MAY be something wrong with our nose that prevents us from doing a Ferdinand-the-Bull, BUT there is apparently nothing wrong with our eyes, for we can still do a little Audrey, which we DID over Collier's cover (September 24) by Lawson Wood. We believe it should be framed and sent to the chairman of the Jumping Frog Contest, it would make a luverly booby prize.

TRIVIA. While we were still gurgling over Colliers, we opened our weekly English papers and beheld two items that increased our mirth, so we pass them on for your enjoyment. Item one concerns a busy suburbanite who was hurrying home from a shopping tour with a harp under one arm and a bright and shiny new garden spade under the other. He hailed his bus and as he climbed aboard the cockney conductor shouted to a friend on the sidewalk. "Blimey Bill, tayke a look at this bloke! Strike me pink if 'e ain't backed 'isself bofe ways." Item two concerns a doctor and clergyman. They both possessed the same names and lived on the same street. The doctor had just landed a job in Africa and about the time he arrived there, the clergyman died. The doctor sent his wife a cable, which was delivered by mistake to the clergyman's widow, it read as follows: "Arrived safely Heat terrific." Maybe this is just one of our giggly days, huh!

WHILE WE ARE in the story telling vein here is a true one. It is slightly aging but nevertheless delightful, and is told about the young cricketer Ron Wythe who left his Australian home for the matches in London armed with the following note from his very charming wife. "This is to certify that I, "Jackie" the legally wedded wife of Ron Whyte, do hereby permit my husband to go wherever he pleases, drink what he pleases whenever he pleases, and I furthermore permit him to keep and enjoy the company of any young lady he sees fit, as I know he has excellent taste. I want him to enjoy himself and life to the fullest extent, for he will be a long time dead." A lady who must indeed be as wise as she is charming!

APART from all this nonsense the only other thing we can think of is that Farmer Gary's (Stillwater, Oklahoma) midget cows are coming in for a great deal of publicity. Less overhead, and better production, so the farmer claims—but we MUST say, they ARE the strangest looking critters.

WE WON'T MENTION the European situation, we believe in thinking happy thoughts as long as possible—but we still feel that most any day now we may have to be fitted for a gas mask.

AND SO with this we say, ahoy! and cheerio; everybody!

But when Henry, who has been a blacksmith for 44 years, learned no one could legally stop him, he continued to start work at 5 a. m.

SMALL AUBURN PLANT TO TREAT CONCENTRATES

A plant for reducing small lots of concentrates is to be erected at Auburn for service to adjacent mining areas.

Hal D. Draper, local assayer and mine inspector, will be in charge of purchases for the new plant. He bought three lots Wednesday and a fourth yesterday forenoon. Two of the first three lots of concentrates came from Deer Creek. They were shipped to the new plant in Bakersfield yesterday and will continue to go there until the plant at Auburn is ready. Many little properties have small lots of concentrates and it is generally too expensive to take them to the bay area. The company at Auburn will be in a position to take care of them at a profit to both parties concerned. As the trade grows and expands larger lots of concentrates will be handled.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By JEAN MARTZ

The seniors held a class meeting Wednesday to confer with the photographer Maurice Kach about their senior pictures. President Bill Joyal presided over the meeting. Many of the students wish to have their pictures by Christmas.

The girls at Nevada City high school played the season's first baseball game Tuesday night after school. Jean Martz's team won over Shirley Davis' with a score of 16 to 1. Doris Rosynski and Jean Martz pitched for the winning team while Rose Ponticilli and Jane Bennett pitched for the other side. More games are planned and the girls on the losing team are going to try to win by as large a margin next time as they lost this time.

The girl's tennis tournament at high school is well under way. Some of the winners for the first round in singles are Laura Price, Pauline Marshall, Pearl Stratch, Helen Barker and Virginia Carney. Other players have not finished their sets. The doubles are also progressing but the first round has not been completed yet.

The new student body cards have arrived from the printers. These cards entitle holders to all home games, free of charge, free admission to most school parties, and free copies of the school paper. A student cannot take active part in the student body activities without this card.

Nevada City high school now possesses an amplifier. The student body president John Muscardini was the first to try it out in the assembly last Friday. This system will be very useful at games, and for the choruses and classes of instrumental music when they give concerts.

The Nevada City Yellowjackets went to Roseville Saturday to play football against the Roseville Reserves. Coach Martin's star fullback Eddie Doolittle, became annoyed with members of the opposing team to the extent that he left the game in the first quarter. The team was crippled by this loss, they played hard and gave their opponents a good struggle, in spite of the fact they lost 25 to 0. The starting line up was as follows: Center, Albert Ponticelli. Guards, Frank Angelini, Buster Williams; tackle, Bud King, Dennis Coughlin; ends, Hershey Lotz and Karl Kopp; quarterbacks, Elton Tobiassen; halfbacks, Bill Joyal, Elgin Pingree; fullbacks, Eddie Doolittle.

This was the first game of the year for Nevada City.

Alice Norton has been chosen editor of the high school paper "The Searchlight" for this year. The staff will be chosen soon and the first edition of the paper published. All the students are looking forward to the first paper. The editions are composed of news accounts of school activities, sports, school improvements and other things of interest to the students.

One of the most popular sections of the paper is the one which contains the humor and school gossip. Mr. Burke is advisor for the Searchlight.

The student body at the high school held a pep rally on Friday. Eddie Doolittle led yells and the students cooperated and gave many rousing cheers. Mr. Martin gave a short talk on the Block NC. This is a club for boys who have won the first letters in athletics. This was the first pep rally of the year. Yell leaders and song leaders will be elected for the coming year.

INDIAN FLAT VS. P.G.E. TRIAL STARTS MONDAY

The complaint allages: That the defendant company permitted a large amount of inflammable material to accumulate beneath its transmission line, and also permitted dead trees to remain along the right-of-way and in close proximity there to; that on September 26th, 1936 a tree fell and came in contact with the high voltage line and became ignited and caused the inflammable material along the right-of-way to catch fire.

PETITION TO RECOVER BAIL IN COURT MON.

George R. Anderson attorney for Henry Yuen, Roy Staten, E. C. Circle, James Vasion and Pete Zderich, who were convicted by a jury in the superior court on a charge of rioting, has filed a petition in the superior court on behalf of Eli Rodman, Elaine Black and Albert Garesio, asking the return to them of $1800 deposited as bail for the defendants, which Judge Raglan Tuttle ordered at the time of pronouncing judgment applied to the payment of $1800 in fines levied against Yuen, Circle and Vasion.

The petition recites that Elaine Black posted $2,000 each for Yuen and Vasion; Garesio, $1000 for Circle and Rodman also deposited $500 for Circle.

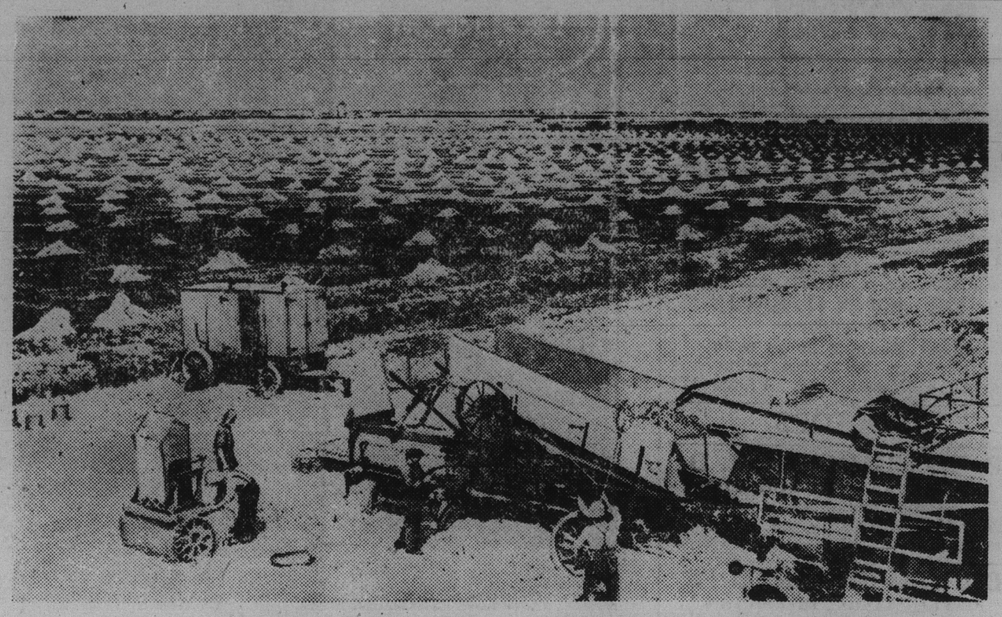
The petition further recites that receipts for the deposits stand in the names of Elaine Black, Garesio and Rodman and not in the names of the defendants themselves.

Anderson avers in his petition that the order is contrary to law and in excess of the court's jurisdiction and that it is in violation of the provisions of the constitutions of California and the United States in that it deprives the petitioners of their property without due process of law.

The petition is set for hearing on Monday, September 26, when Grant Spear will also come before the court for action on his application for probation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams and daughter, Pam, are guests at the O. E. Schiffner home on Prospect Hill.

Harvest Crops on Reclaimed Sea Land



Farmers of the new community of Weirengen, reclaimed from the Zuyder Zee in the Netherlands, gather in a rich harvest. The land on which they farm grain crops and fodder was under the sea until a few years ago, when a government-sponsored reclamation project made it available for agriculture.

When the Loyalists Crossed the Ebro
